PEACE TREATY.

TO THE GERMANS.

EX-KAISER TO BE PUT ON TRIAL.

London, May 7. The Draft to the Treaty of Peace now handed to the Germans is designed in the first instance, to set forth the conditions upon which alone the Allied and Associated Powers will make peace with Germany, and in the second place, to establish those international arrangements which the Allies have devised prevention of wars in future betterment of mankind. For this latter reason, it includes the Covenant of the League of Nations and the International Labour Convention. The Draft Treaty, however, does not deal except incidentally, with the problem arising out of the liquidation of the Austrian Empire, nor with the territories of the two enemy Powers, Turkey and Bulgaria, except in so far as it binds Germany to accept whatever subsequent settlement may be decided upon by the Allies in the case of these belligerents.

The Treaty is divided into fifteen sections. The First Section contains the Covenant of the League Nations, to which functions are assigned in various places by the Treaty.

The Second Section describes the geographical frontiers of Germany, beginning at the north-eastern point of the present. Belgian frontier.

The Third Section, which consists of twelve clauses, binds the Germans to accept the political changes in Europe brought about by the Treat# It establishes two new States. Czecho-Slovakia and facilities to members co-operating in this enterprise. Poland, and provides for their recognition. It revises the basis of Belgian sovereignty and alters the boundaries of Belgium. establishes new systems of Government in Luxembourg and Saar Basin and restores Alsace Lorraine to France. It provides for possible additions of territory to Dennark, and binds Germany to recognise the independence of German-Austria and to accept the conditions to be laid down as to those States or Governments which have created themselves since the Russian Revolution.

The Fourth Section Deals with the political reconstruction of territories outside Europe, affected by the war. It contains a general renunciation on the part of Germany of her possessions and rights rights in Africa under the various International Conventions, particularly the Berlin Act of 1885 and the Brussels Act of 1895, which have regulated European enterprise in tropical Africa. This be provisionally recognised as Independent, subject to advice and section gives international recognition to the British Protectorate in Egypt and annuls the Act of Algeciras, which was one step in the German policy of aggression which led to the war.

The Fifth Section sets forth the military, naval and air conditions of the peace, limits the size of the German Army and Navy and abolishes compulsory recruiting in Germany, as a first step towards general disarmament.

The Sixth Section imposes on all signatory Powers an obligation pto maintain all graves of the fallen, and regulates the return of prisoners of war.

The Seventh Section deals with responsibilities and punishment and provides for the trial of the ex-Emperor William.

The Eighth Section sets forth the reparation and restitution to be made by Germany, and contains special provisions relating to documents and war trophies seized by the Germans in earlier wars. The Ninth Section contains the financial clauses, mainly designed to put into operation the provisions of the previous section. The Tenth Section, which is of great length and complexity, contains the economic provisions and re-establishes the various non-political, international and Treaties Conventions which in such matters as posts, telegraphs and sanitary regulations have theen binding on civilised Powers before the war. Attached to this -- section is a special provision to regulate traffic in opium and similar

The Eleventh Section deals with aerial navigation.

The Twelfth Section contains clauses dealing with the international control of ports, canals, rivers and railways, with a special provision for the Kiel Canal.

The Thirteenth Section contains the Labour Convention.

Slovakia and Uruguay, on the one hand, and Germany on the other. The Plenipotentiaries representing these Powers are enumerated who, having communicated their full powers found in good and due form, have agreed as follows:—From the coming into force of the Desent Treaty the state of war will terminate. From that moment, and subject to the provisions of this Treaty, offical relations with the Allied and Associated Powers.

SECTION 1-LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Membership. Members of the League will be signatories of the Covenant and other States invited to accede who must lodge a declaration of Accession, without reservation, within two months. Any State or Dominion or Colony may be admitted provided its admission is agreed to by two-thirds of the Assembly. facilities for removal and reburial. A State may withdraw upon giving two years' notice if it has fulfilled all its international obligations.

Becretariat.—A permanent Secretariat will be established at at the seat of the League, which will be Geneva. Assembly.—The Assembly will consist of representatives of members of the League and will meet at stated intervals. Voting will be by States Each member will have one vote and not more then three representatives.

Armament.—The Council will formulate plans for the reduction exceed the armaments fixed without the concurrence of the Council. All members will exchange full information as to armaments and programmes and a permanent Commission will advise the County on military and naval questions.

Prevention of War.—Upon any war or threat of war the Counci will meet to consider what common action shall be taken. Members are pledged to submit matters of dispute to arbitration or enquiry and not to resort to war until three months after the award. Members agree to carry out an arbitral award and not to go to war with any party to a dispute which complies with it. If a member fails to tion. carry out an award the Council will propose the necessary measures. The Council will formulate plans for the establishment of a per manent Court of International Justice to determine international disputes or to give advisory opinions. Members who do not submit contains an agenda for the first meeting, which includes the principle German submarine, without their cases to arbitration must accept the jurisdiction of the Council or of an eight-hours day and the question of the unemployment and warning, when 180 miles from Assembly. If the Council, less the parties to a dispute, is unanimously agreed upon the rights of it, the members agree that they will not go to war with any party to a dispute which complies with its recommendations. In this case a recommendation by the Assembly, con curred in by all its members represented on the Council and simple majority of the rest, less the parties to the dispute, will have the force of a unanimous recommendation by the Council, In either case, if the necessary agreement cannot be secured, members reserve the right to take such action as may be necessary for the maintenance of right and justice. Members resorting to war in disregard of the Covenant will immediately be debarred from all intercourse with other members. The Council will in such cases consider what military or naval action can be taken by the League collectively for the protection of the Covenants and will afford Validity of Treaties.—All Treaties or international engagement concluded after the institution of the League will be registered with the Secretariat and published. The Assembly may from time to inapplicable or involve danger to peace. The Covenant abrogates all obligations between members inconsistent with its terms, but nothing in it shall affect the validity of arbitration or regional understandings, like the Monroe Doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace.

Mandatory System.—The tutelage of nations not yet able to stages of development requiring different kinds of Mandates—(a) communities like those belonging to the Turkish Empire, which can assistance from the Mandatory in whose selection they should be allowed a voice; (b) communities like those of Central Africa, to be administered by a Mandatory under conditions generally approved by members of the League, where equal opportunities for trade will be allowed to all members. Certain abuses, such as trade in slaves, arms and liquor, will be prohibited and the construction of military and naval bases and the introduction of compulsory military training will be disallowed; (c) other communities, such as South West Africa and the South Pacific Islands, best administered under the laws of a Mandatory as integral portions of its territory In every case, the Mandatory will render an annual report and the degree of its authority will be defined.

General International Provisions.—Subject to, and in accordance with, the provision of international Conventions existing or hereafter to be agreed upon, members of the League will in general endeavour through an international organisation established by the Labour Convention to secure and maintain fair condition of Labour for men women and children in their own countries and other countries and undertake to secure just treatment of the native inhabitants of territorries under their control. They will entrust the League with general supervision over and execution of agreement for the supression of traffic in women and children, etc., and control of trade in arms and ammunition with countries in which control is necessary. They will make provision for freedom of communications and transit and equitable treatment for commerce of all members of the League, with special reference to the necessities of regions devastated during war, and they will endeavour to take steps for the international prevention and contro of disease. In order to secure the rights and welfare of the population and guarantee to France entire freedom in working the mines, the territory will be governed by a Commission appointed by the League of Nations and consisting of five members, one French, one a native inhabitant of the Saar, and three representing three different countries other than France and Germany. The League will appoint a member of the Commission as Chairman to act as Executive of the Commission. The Commission will have all powers of government formerly belonging to the German Empire, Russia and Bavaria; will administer railroads and other public services and have full power to interpret the Treaty clauses. The local courts will continue but be subject to the Commission. Existing German legislation will remain the basis of law, but the Commission may make modifications after consulting a local representative Assembly, which it will organise. It will have the taxing power, but for local purposes only; new taxes must be approved by this Assembly. The Labour legislation will consider the wishes of the local labour organisations and the Labour programme of the League of Nations. JAPANESE WOMAN CLAIMS SUPERPERSONAL SIGHT.

. A Japanese woman (31 years old), the wife of a soy and miss retailer in Noiomachi, Dairen, is said to be gifted with what may be termed as a superpersonal sight. It was last December that she was astounded to see by her mental vision, while meditating with her eyes closed, things which she had never seen, moving before her like a kaleidoscope. At first the visions were rather faint, but they have gradually become more distinct, and when she confided what she saw to her husband. they were often pleasurably surprised that her mental visions coincided with events in real life. When interviewed by a press representative, her husband answered on her behalf that at first his wife would give him descriptions of male or female visitors in such and such attire to call later in the day. He was little interested in the strange prediction, but to his wonderment, it proved true. This woman has become interested in the mysterious Wharf fires and is reported to have seen by her mental vision incendiarists. setting fire to the produce stocks It is even said that, in reply to questions put to her by a few the incendiarists were looked like, etc.

SOME INTERESTING

U.S. FOREIGN TRADE.

According to an official report. just received by this paper from the United States Department of Commerce, (says the Commercial and Financial World, of New York), our exports of merchandise for the month of January, 1919, footed up $622,913,673, as compared with $504,797,306 in January of last year. For the seven months ended January 31, 1919, our exports were $3,797,864,-945, as compared with $3,450,282, of the previous year Furthermore, the excess exports over imports for the period ended on January 31 last was no less than $282,862,378.

067 for the corresponding period

These are, indeed, tremendous figures, such as were wholly undreamed of even so recently as five years ago. ,

But there is abundant reason to believe that the future has in store for us still more magnificent totals. From all over the world there is an increasing demand for American merchandise of every conceivable character. and on every side one hears of new concerns that have entered the field in competition with

The reporter who writes this article is led into this train of thought through making some study of the work that is being done by the powerful concern named in the above heading -- the Pac'fic Trading Corporation of America, the headquarters of which are in the West Street Building, New York City.

This is a company which was chartered under the laws of this State in December last, with an initial capitalization of $500,000. and which was created to form link chain of already existing firms, which are especially strongly represented in the Straits Settlements, Ceylon, India, the Dutch

East Indies, the Philippines, Australia, China and the principal countries of Europe. In other words, the company will do an import and export business all over the world. The officers expect to make heavy imports to the United States of goods which formerly only found their way here through foreign countries. This will be possible through the close affiliations already spoken of. The company is particularly favourably placed for supplying the needs of manufacturers using raw materials produced abroad, of which the affiliated concerns have long been extensive handlers. The same connection facilitates the sale in the same markets of American products. The company is chiefly interested in vegetable oil seeds. crude rubber, spices and Colonial produce generally. At the same time it will undertake and is well equipped to handle almost any other kind of merchandise.

The President of the company is Mr. C. C. Halling, who is a man of long experience in international trade. The other gentlemen identified with the undertaking have also been prominently associated with international trade for a number of years.

It is learned by the reporter that the company is already doing an extensive business. The export department, which is now being perfected, is making plans of an extensive and far-reaching character. The peculiarly advantageous position in which the company finds itself through its affiliations abroad facilitates the poineer work, as the name is already known and respected in foreign marts. Prominent manufacturers have already shown their keen interest in this new venture foreign selling rights for their products. The export department = 7.10 plans to handle as specialties a varied range of goods, comprising foodstuffs, canned goods, raw chemicals, dyestuffs, metals, automobiles, trucks, tractors and their accessories; electrical goods, 1 = 5.50 machinery, etc.

The encouraging reception local commercial circles gives successful future.

A further fact, worthy of special note in this place, is that the company plans to purchase steamers for its trading. A marine expert is now in the New which have been quoted at from In a violent storm which visited York office looking over the tonnage offerings, and it is probable that important transactions will shortly follow. - "

The company is very strong from a financial point of view and is prepared to furnish, references that will satisfy, any

MEN WHO WORK 90 HOURS A WEEK.

An important investigation into wages and conditions of employment in the agricultural industry has been made for the Board of Agriculture, and voluminous report on the result was issued recently as a Blue Book. The immediate object of the inquiry was to furnish information for the use of the Agricultural Wages Board, an official survey of the conditions having been made since the report of the Royal Commission on Labour in 1891.

The inquiries were conducted by a number of expert investigators, who found that if the present wages were compared with the rates of the last official inquiry in 1907 "a rise of two only "had taken average wage of the ordinary agricultural labourer during the seven years 1907-1914." The average weekly wage for England in 1907 was 14s. 9d.; in 1917 it was 24s. or a shilling less than the minimum of 25s, established by the Corn Production Act in August, 1917. The average for shepherds, however, was slightly more than a shilling higher than the minimum wage. In some districts those men work 90 hours a week. In January, 1918, the labourers' time wages ranged on the whole at about 27s. 10d.

THE LABOURER'S AWAKENING. Convincing evidence of the labourer's awakening to his own value and his willingness organise was given to the investigators. Before the war the men's wages were too low-to allow of any subscription to the necessary funds. The trade union in former days was a strange and alien thing. Nevertheless since the war a rapid development in trade unionism has taken place. Nearly all the investigators speak of the labourers ready response to the call to organise.

The investigators found that there is not much evidence of unfriendly relations between employers and agricultural wage earners, or as yet of much or much discontent among the workers owing to the shortage of | follows:--labour.

A large section of the report is devoted to cottage accommodation and rents. Mr. Little's report giving the results of inquiries carried out by the Commission on Labour from 1891 to 1895 is recalled, and it is declared that though nearly a quarter of a century has since elapsed it cannot be said that the result of the present investigations shows any improvement.

The general conclusion to be drawn from the investigators' reports' is that throughout the greater part of the country there is a want of cottages for the agricultural labourer, not because in certain districts a sufficient number of cottages to meet the demand of the inhabitants do not exist, but because in almost all districts there are a consider- he is in the farmer's employ. WORK AND WAGES.

Of the average rate of wages for shepherds in January, 1918, the highest was 40s., in Northumberland, and the lowest 22s. 5d., in Hereford. There are ten counties in which the average rate reaches 30s, or over, and five with an average of 25s. or lower. These are Hereford, Berks, Somerset, Cornwall, and Devon. For cattlemen, the highest rate and the lowest 22s. 5d. in Devon, again the highest, and the lowest a cash wage to cover all. 22s. 9d., in Devonshire.

On purchasing for its headquarters an old baronial mansion in Edinburgh the society annexed the former owner's armorial bearings, and left over its gateway his motto, 'Olim marte, nunc arte," which literally translated means "Once by war, now by skill." When Walter Scott was showing George IV. round Edinburgh, the King saw this motto and inquired its meaning. Scott replied. "It means sire, Once robbers, now thieves."

PEACE CELEBRATIONS SCHEME.

WHAT'S BEING DONE.

Nothing is definitely known as to when the Peace Celebrations will take place, although the English papers, mention the end of June. Local schemes of decoration have been drawn up and they include Venetian masts, festions, groups of Allied flags, and banners representing the Royal Standard. All the decorated places will be lit by lanterns. On the shields to which the Allied flags will be affixed there will be the names of the prominent Admirals Generals who have been concerned in the War.

The Queen's Statue will be lit by white electric light. All orders have been placed for the various things, but no work has een started on the scheme of decoration, as we have not the exact particulars as to when the Celebrations are going to be. Aso far decorations are concerned, orders for Venetian masts and flags are being fulfilled. In connection with a suitable war memorial, it is suggested that Kowloon should contribute hall in Kowloon were functions could be held. A new Masonic Lodge is about to be erected in place of the present one. The suggestion is that a Hall should be combined with the Lodge.

SHIPPING CONTROL.

Ministry British of Shipping continues make progress . direction of liberating management of ships and direction of trade from the shackles the State control, Freight rates are still under regulation. but the rates scheduled for Mediterranean (other Spanish) and South American ports are much below those previously ruling in the open market, and merchants have been able to obtain tonnage at lower rates. Many vessels, for instance, have been chartered at from to 60s, for the Plate, although the scheduled rate is 70s. The rates for the French Bay and Coasting trades are under revision, and the new schedule for those trades is expected during the course of the next few weeks. Time-charter rates have also been reduced, and from March 31st there has been no need to apply for license in Blake Pier). the case of sailing vessels, vessels employed in the coasting trade and steamers of less than 500 tons gross engaged in the foreign Coastamount, of enquiry rates have weakened latterly somewhat in sympathy with the southern market but any decided improvement in the South is bound to re-action our northern rates: A healthier tone is now apparent in all markets and there is hope of improvement in the near future. For New York via Panama or Suez:-The s.s. "Lowther Castle" sailed on the 19th inst. and proceeding via the Suez Canal. The attention of shippers is drawn to the fact that' now that hostilities have ceased the New York Conference Lines will in all probabability revert to their former practice of despatching steamers by both the Panama and Suez Routes, the sailings each way being, as far as possible, alternating and to avoid disappointment in future shippers are recommended to conclude sales on the basis of "shipment via Panama and/or Suez Canals rather than shipment via Panama only as has been the custom recently caused by the Suez Route being temporarily suspended, on account of its possing through the war zone. The steamer for May loading has not yet been declared.

BOLSHEVIKL

Mr. William G. Shepherd writing to the New York Evening Post states :-- "

Old acquaintances of mine in Petrograd who dreamed of a new and better day in their factory lives and believed the promises of the Bolsheviki that such days were at hand cannot be good friends of the Bolsheviki these days.

I heard the Bolsheviks make their good promises to the working people of Petrograd; their promises did have a pleasant sound, I am bound to admit; no one in Petrograd, in those days after the revolution, could find it in his heart to blame those 100,000 men and wonlen of the working classes for marching through the streets and demanding that their lives be made easier.

What if they were following of L'enine, and Trotzky? In reality. when I talked to them, I found that they would have followed any one, even, perhaps, a new Czar, if they could have been sure that thereby they could have got a fairer shake in their hard lives. The tragedy of it all is that to-day--and I have this personally from Sazanoff, former Prime Minister of the Czar-those factories of Petrogard and Moscow into which they hoped " the Bolsheviki would bring some sunshine and justice are all closed.

There are no more paydays; even the small pay of the Czartime days is not forthcoming now. The working people seized the factories and the bankrolls and the machinery and the office books but to-day they find themselves in possession of only so much brick and paper and steel cogwheels, with the life gone from the buildings, with the purchasing power gone from the bankrolls, with the whirr gone from the machinery, and alla meaning gone from the once eloquent columns of the office books.

One doesn't have to take sides the Bolshevik question to realise the grimness of what has happened to the working people citizens. Petrograd. who believed the Bolsheviki promises. must admit that I myself, as a forward-looking American, listened to the Bolshevik promises the most important oil companies in those early days and went about the factories of Petrograd and Moscow delighted with the happiness, independence, and hopefulness of the factory hands. Dutch, the Shell, and the Lord have sat in their great office tea-rooms with them at three in the afternoon, their day's work come and look forward to the even better time in the future. But it's all ended in Petrograd now, and in Moscow. "Petrograd once a city of 2,500,000 people, not more than 700,000. I have talked recently with a man who had just left there. He said that hollow-eyed men and women in the working district, too poor their houses and cut pieces, of meat from the bodies of cab horses

THE PEACE TREATY.

For five years the manufactured products of Alsace-Lorraine will be admitted to Germany free of duty to the total amount not exceeding in any year the average of three years preceding the war, and textile materials may be imported from Germany to Alsace-Lorraine and re-exported free of duty. Contracts for electric power from the right bank must be continued for ten years. For seven years, with a possible extension to ten, the ports of Keil and Strassbourg shall be administered as a single unit by a French Administrator appointed and supervised by the Central Central Rhine Commission. Property rights will be safeguarded in both ports and equality of treatment as respects traffic assured to the nationals, vessels and goods of every country. Contracts between the Alsace-Lorrainers and the Germans are maintained save for France's right to annul on grounds of public interest. Judgments of Courts hold in certain classes of trades, while in others a Judicial Consequatur is first required. Political condemnations during the war are null and void, and the obligation to re-pay war fines is established as in other parts of an Allied territory.

Various classes adjust the general provisions of the Treaty to the special conditions of Alsace-Lorraine, certain matters. execution being left to Conventions to be made between France and Germany.

GERMAN-AUSTRIA. The entire independence of German-Austria is recognised by Germany .. Czecho-Slovakia. Germany recognises the entire independance of the Czecho-Slovak State, including the autonomous frontiers of this State as they may determined, which, in the case of the German frontier, shall follow the old frontier of Bohemia in 1914. The usual stipulations as to acquistion and change of nationality follow. Poland.—Germany cedes to Poland the greater part of Upper Silesia. Posen and the Provinces of West Prussia on the left bank of the Vistula. A Field Boundary Commission of seven, five representing the Allied and Associated Powers and one each representing Poland and Germany, shall be constituted within fifteen days of peace to delimit this boundary. Such special provisions as are necessary to protect racial or religious minorities shall be laid down in a subsequent Treaty between the Allied and Associated Powers and Poland.

East Frussia.-The southern and eastern frontier of East-Prussia. as facing Poland, is to be fixed by plebiscites, the first in the Regency of Allenstin between the southern frontier of East Prussia and the norther frontier of Regierungsbesirk Allenstin, from where it meets Poland, Germany and Danzig to assure suitable railroad communication across German while Poland shall grant free passage from East Prussia to Croats to Finne. Horas. Germany. The north-eastern corner of East Prussia, about Memel, is to be ceded by Germany to the Associated Powers, the former agreeing to accept the settlement made. especially as regards the nationality of the inhabitants, to move out within fifteen days of peace and the territories be placed under an International Commission of five members appointed by the Five Allied and Associated Powers, with the particular duty of arranging for a free, fair and secret vote. The Commission will report the results of the plebiscites to the Five Powers, with a recommendation for the boundary, and will terminate "its work as soon as the boundary has been laid down and the new authorities

The Five Allied and Associated Powers will draw up regulations assuring to East Prussia full and equitable access to, and use of, Haras. the Vistula. 'A subsequent Convention, of which the terms will be fixed by the Five Allied and Associated Powers, will be entered into between the boundary between East and "West Prussia to its junction with the boundary between the circles of Oletsko and Augersburg, thence to the norther boundary of Oletsko to its solving the question of the Shantung Peninsula. The present junction with the present frontier, and the second in the area situation is a complete deadlock between the Chinese and Japanese comprising the circles of Stuhm and Rosenburg and the parts of claims. Japan does not seem inclined to envisage the arrival of the circles of Marienburg and Marienwerder east of the Vistula. In the Germans at Versailles or the presentation to them of the Peace each case. German troops and authorities will stop.

Danzig and the district immediately about it is to by constituted into "a Free City of Danzig." Under guarantee of the League of Nations, a High Commissioner appointed by the League and a Resident at Danzing shall draw up a Constitution in agreement with the duly-appointed representatives of the city, and shall deal, in the first instance, with all differences arising between the city and Poland. The actual boundaries of the stration in the Sorbonne in honour of the English victorious fleet. city shall be delimited by a Commission appointed within six months from peace, and to include three representatives chosen by appreciation. the Allied and Associated Powers and one each by Germany and Poland.

Allied and Associated Powers, shall be concluded between Poland Britain-Havos. and Danzig, which shall include Danzig within the Polish Customs frontiers, though with a free area in the port; ensure to Poland the use of all the city's contingent of officers and men from the British Squadrons now visitwaterways, docks and other port facilities, the control and administration of the Vistula and the whole through railway system with- the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honour. During the voting, the zone will be under charge of an International Commission of five members, of whom the Norwegian and Swedish Governments will be invited to choose two. The Commission will temporarily have general powers of administration. After the result of the voting has been declared the Danish Government may occupy those territories which have opted for Denmark, and Germany shall renounce her sovereign rights in these territories. All inhabitants will then acquire Danish nationality, with certain exceptions. Provisions are made for individual change of nationality under cettain conditions.

HELIGOLAND: The fortifications, military establishments and harbours of the islands of Heligoland and Dune are to be destroyed under the supervision of the Allies by German labour and at Germany's expense. They are not to be reconstructed, nor are any similar works to be constructed in the future.

Germany is to recognise and respect the full independence of Treaty and of all Treaties or agreements of kinds concluded by Germany since the Revolution November, 1917, with all governments or political groups on the territory of the former Russian Empire. The Allies reserve all rights on the part of Russia for restitution and satisfaction to be obtained from Germany on the principles of the present Treaty. SECTION 4: POLITICAL CLAUSES OUTSIDE EUROPE.

German Rights outside Europe. Outside Europe, Germany renounces all rights, titles and privileges as to her own or her Allies' territories to all Allied and Associated Powers and undertakes to Peking asking that the students be released. accept whatever measures are taken by the Five Allied Powers in relation thereto.

Colonies and Oversean Possessions Germany renquinces in favour of the Allied and Associated Powers her Overseas possessions, with all rights and titles therein. All movable and immovable property belonging to the German Empire or to any German State. shall pass to the Government exercising authority thereat. These Governments may make whatever provisions seem suitable for the repatriation of German nationals, and as to conditions on which German subjects of European origin shall reside, hold property or carry on business. Germany undertakes to pay reparation for damage suffered by French nationals in the Cameroons or its frontier zone through acts of the German civil and military authorities and of individual Germans from 1st January, 1900, to 1st August, 1914. Germany renounces all rights under the Convention of 4th November, 1911, and 29th September, 1912, and undertakes to pay to France, in accordance with the estimate presented and approved by the Reparation Commission, all deposits, credits, advances etc., thereby secured. Germany undertakes to accept and observe any provisions by the Allied and Associated Powers as to trade in arms and spirits in Africa, as well as to the General Act of Berlin of 1885, and the General Act of Brussels of 1890. Diplomatic protection to the inhabitants of the former Geman Colonies is to be given by the Governments exercising authority.

ALLIED WARNING TO ITALY.

ALL ATEMPTS AT SETTLEMENT FAIL.

The British and French Delegations' signatories to the Pact of territory of the Luthenians south of the Carpathians and accepts London have been willing to stand by the Treaty supporting the Italian claims in Istria and Dalmatia, giving Fiume to the Croats, as laid down in the Peace Treaty.

The Italians were told clearly by the British and French, as the friends of Italy, that in their opinion Italy was mistaken in insisting on the letter of the Treaty. Nevertheless, Italy stood out over Fiume, rejecting every one of the innumerable formulae examined by the Council of Four which did not ensure sovereignty over Fiume. French Peace Conference circles hold the view that if Italy, in spite of all advice, stands out for Fiume, it is she who will have broken the Pact of London.—Havas. DEMAND NOT INCLUDED IN TREATY.

Paris, April 24. In French official circles the view is expressed that France might be forced to adhere to the Pact of London, not making a separate peace to which Italy would not be a party.

As signatories to the Pact of London, the French and British delegates are quite ready to honour their signature. The present deadlock caused by the Italian demand concerning Fiume is not territory on the right bank of the Vistula between Poland and Danzig, included in the Treaty, Italy having recognised the right of the

FRENCH HONOUR BRITISH NAVY.

EULOGISTICAL TRIBUTE.

Paris, April 24. There was a demonstration in honour of the British Navy at the Sorbonne, whereat M. Pichon and M. Leyues, Minister for Marine, Admiral Beatty and others the chief visiting navalmen were guests of honour and distinguished politicians and diplomats were also present. M Pichon sulogistically tributed the friendship of King Edward and said the present celebrations of victory were the direct outcome of his late Majesty's labours in cementing the Anglo-French siliance. France was not only honouring the incomparable Navy but also honouring Britain's Army, Government and her Dominions and Colonies. They were determined to maintain the present Anglo-French collaboration for all time, because without it peace would remain at the mercy of that fickleness of fortune so often experienced." M. Leygues said the successes of the Armies in France and Belgium, also in the East and Africa would have been impossible but for the protection of the Navy, which prevented the destruction of their ports and devastation of their dominions and colonies. Moreover the war would have lasted much longer without the naval blockade. Continuing, he outlined the achievements of all branches of the Navy, none of which ever failed to rise to every emergency, and said the atrocious crimes of the enemy submarines must be punished

Admiral Touchard eulogistically reviewed the achievements of the British sailors in every ocean and concluded: "We have disputed with you the empire of the sea. We shall no longer be your rivals, except in the works of peace. Thousands and thousands of your sons aleep their last sleep under the soil of France. All honour and reverent remembrance to those glorious dead."

A ARJORIE WHITNEY is a very pretty and very very independent daughter and only child of a multi-millionaire. Her father is not long on discipline and the consequence is that his pretty little gir, is headstrong and boss of the palace in which the lives It has been the lifelong desire, however, of her father, that she should become the wife of Elmer Poindexter, who is the nephew of the multi-millionaire's former business partner and lifelong friend. Marjorie does not see it this way, however, and with the connivance of a housemaid, she runs away.

Like all girls who run away from home, she goes to 'ew York and with the few dollars she has in her purse, hires lodging in a c-rtain side street. Detectives, employed by her father trace and locate her in the lodging house Old man Poindexter suggests that she be left to her own devices and for the nephew to keep an eye on her, and if they are thrown together, may fall in love with each other in the natural course of events.

This delightful arrangement miscarries, however, by the prowess of the hero, Powers, who rescues Marjorie from the attack of a discharged convict who returns to the lodging house, once his home, to recover stolen bonds he had hidden there.

How the young couple overcame parental objection and visited equal justice upon the righteous and unrighteous, provides an entertaining story with a surprising denouement.

PROBLEMS OF MARRIAGE IN MODERN LIFE.

Dr. Marie Stopes, D.Sc., Ph. D., F.L.S., F.R.S.L., lecturer in Palaebotany at London University, spent a year and a half at the Tokyo Imperial University and explored Japan for fossils. From fossile she turned by a simple transition to "No" plays and collaborated with Professor Sakurai in "Plays of Old Japan." She is now interested in "Birth Control," and has published in the London Evening Standard the following outline of her evidence before the National Birth Rate Commission:

Hitherto most of the discussion hinging on birth control has been brought forward on the lines of economic necessity or expediency, or it has been involved in questions of emigration or statistics-it has been placed, in fact, on an ordinary, material plane.

"I should look at it from what I hold to be the highest standpoint, and I consider that the question of birth control is essentially fundamentally moral and religious question, because the whole of the relationship of the two human beings in that intimate relation of husband and wife should be really a profoundly symbolic relation. It is one which has not only the sanction of religion, but it is, so far as I can see, the nearest approach to Divine union of souls that we get in this world at all. Therefore. anything which raises and purifies perfect the union of a married pair is the concern of religion. NEGLIGENT RELIGIONS. "I think that the attitude of the Church has been deplorably negligent in this connection. The religious attitude of the Anglican Church and of the Roman Catholics differs a little, but it is essentially similar, and and it is not fundamentally suited and makes happier and, more to the needs of the present-day community. "As a result of my two little books, Married Life and Wise Parenthood, published this year, have personally received hundreds and hundreds of letters. the writers of which show me that they have a really religious spiritual desire "to make their marriages perfect, beautiful things, and they get belp neither from the medical profession nor from the Church in the science of things they need. THE CRUX OF MARRIAGE.

And the physical crux and the physical difficulty of marriage is the too great frequency of births. If the married pair have the kind of union that their love indicates they want, there must be a way out shown to the people, or else not only she physical side of their marriage is thwarted and injured, but the spiritual and most beautiful side of their marriage is thwarted and injured.

The reason for this difficulty with the whole of humanity that it is not so very long ago that our bodies evolved from an animal ancestry, and the needs of that primitive animal stock from which we sprung was an enormous number of frequently repeated offspring to make up for the appalling wastage which existed.

strictures are still in our systems

"The attitude which I think is profoundly right to take is that every life which is brought into the world should be considered from the point of view of "the happiness of the pair who are bringing it forth; and the health and happiness and possible use of the child which is going to be added to the community, and of the needs of the community as a whole.

As we are rational human children leads to. beings, and our whole civilised life is not a violation of nature. but a conquering of our primitive | a religious and moral attitude for instincts, so in this matter, which a is the must fundamental that the community has to consider, we should also use our reason in the to investigate entirely alone. highest interests of the community, which are best served by follow out that investigation in health, happiness, and strength detail, and I hope that before of mind and character and soul very long we shall have an
